GUINNESS WORLD RECORDS® COMING TO WINTER PARK, FLORIDA

Center for Diagnostic Imaging and Care America to set Guinness World Records Record while fighting cancer

Orlando, FL – November 20, 2015 – On Saturday, December 5, Center for Diagnostic Imaging (CDI) and Care America are partnering in an attempt to set a Guinness World Records® title for the Longest continuous line of people using stethoscopes. More than 300 medical practice providers and staff members from throughout greater Orlando are expected to participate in this human connection.

Participation in this record attempt is open to the public. Those who are interested in participating must register online by Wednesday, November 25, at relayforlife.org/worldrecordattemptfl. A registration fee of $25 per person applies to each participant with all money raised going to the American Cancer Society. Participants must be 18 years of age or older, and each participant will receive a keepsake stethoscope.

“Every day, physicians and care providers put their stethoscopes on the hearts of people with cancer,” said Care America Regional Administrator, Nancy Gingras, R.N. “It is special to be part of an event that connects people while fighting cancer. We aren’t just creating the longest line of people using stethoscopes; we are connecting people.”

“As a part of the medical community, CDI provides answers through diagnostic testing every day for individuals and their families that are affected by cancer. This record attempt brings the medical community together, creates awareness for the residents of Winter Park and raises money for a very well respected organization” said Lori Cummins, Regional Vice President at CDI.

The Guinness World Records® attempt will take place at Central Park/Meadow West at New York Avenue and Morse Boulevard on Saturday, December 5, 2015 at 6 a.m.

About Center for Diagnostic Imaging (CDI):
